

ASPIRO... CLIMBING HIGHER

Therapeutic Adventures...

Spotlight: Aspiro CEO, Randy Oakley

January 4, 2007

Only knowing him for a short period of time, Randy Oakley, Aspiro CEO, is already “one of the great people that I have had the privilege to be associated with,” said Brian Church. Randy is that great mix of humor, tireless leader, teacher and stickler for excellence. The only ding we can find on Randy is his thinning (ok... balding) head! Students and staff love him. He loves to mess with people –all in good fun, of course. He always has a great metaphor ready to roll when the ever-present teaching moment is at hand.

Randy Oakley, Aspiro

A student prepares his shelter for a few nights of snow camping. Snow

Randy Inspired...

Randy grew up in the Midwest and has spent time in France, Switzerland and Hawaii before settling down in Utah, in 1992. Randy has made his love for kids, a life-long endeavor. He has been working with kids professionally since 1987.

Randy was inspired to start Aspiro, based on his passion for helping kids. “For years, people have asked what I would do if it were my own child that was in trouble. After nearly 20 years of experience, my reply continues to be that I would take my child to the wilder-

Who does your testing?

Aspiro has associated itself with Chris McRoberts’ group to provide testing services. We wanted an organization with a solid reputation, and Chris’ group fits the bill.

Josh Watson Makes the Move West

Josh Watson, Admissions Director, his wife Cristen and their daughter Lilly Kate will be making the Salt Lake Valley their home as of Monday, January 8, 2006. Most are aware that Josh has been working for Aspiro for the past month or

A View of Mount Timpanogos from Brian Church’s family room!!

Questions or comments? bchurch@aspiro-inc.com or call Brian Direct at (801) 979-6301

Admissions: 888-266-5136 www.wherehealingstarts.com